

The Beeches Independent School

Mission Statement

Our Mission Statement

To provide an holistic and vibrant education which serves to enhance the quality of life for each of our learners. We look to celebrate the abilities of individual learners and encourage growth in self-esteem, personal confidence, and skills for independence.

Our Values and Ethos

Our personalised curriculum is designed around the varying needs of each learner to promote a love of learning and fostering a curious and inquisitive mindset. Our lessons are designed to encourage creativity and encompasses a wide range of learning styles to accommodate sensory needs. It is imperative that our learning-disabled young people have a voice, and that it is listened to in order to direct and shape their own learning experiences.

Our broad and exciting curriculum offers a wide range of subjects with the emphasis being placed on a variety of learning styles, to accommodate the needs of all young people, irrespective of their ability. The emphasis of our education is in celebration of abilities, both academically and socially, and the overcoming of barriers presented by disabilities and we are proud to be inclusive. Embracing special interests and skills to harness engagement is a key factor to our teaching and learning along with introducing independent skills which prepare the individual for independence in adulthood.

Through curriculum teaching, social modelling and our assembly structure and visiting speakers, we aim to shape each learner's awareness of our community and the wider world community in order to become active citizens. Respecting ourselves, our peers and others in community underpins the British Values and is central to the wide range of experiences we offer. We pride ourselves on a respectful environment where our students "are kind and polite to each other" Ofsted 2019, and where supporting one another is the norm.
